

No Place For Young Fellow, Say Eight Boys At Windsor

Miss Contacts With Persons of Own Age and Athletic Competition With Their Physical Equals

Special to the Free Press
WINDSOR, Feb. 12.—This is no labor for a young fellow. The way the youngsters expressed their indignation and protest in a Free Press received by many of the club boys here, indicates that they are not content with the physical training which the Windsor Institute offers on three sessions a week. They are also interested in the social activities of the club, and the Institute is being urged to provide for them. The following summary of their remarks would indicate that the House of Correction is not the only place where they can find athletic competition.

The personal training of the boys at Windsor is better than that of any other club in the state. The fact is better at Windsor than it is at Vermont, with the exception of the club at Burlington. They have most of all the necessary equipment for their own use, and a person of their own age and physical condition can find a place for himself in the club.

They find the conversation of most of the boys of their own age and physical condition, which is not the case at other clubs. They find the boys of their own age and physical condition, which is not the case at other clubs.
