

Vergennes Probers Urge Changes At Reformatory

(Continued From Page One)

at child helping that the handling of cases of delinquency and conduct in most instances, preferably non-institutional. Finally, it is stated should not be broken up for reasons of expediency.

DISTRICTS AND TREATMENT OF PROBLEM CASES.

"(1) Mental defective children should be segregated from the institution for delinquency and conduct cases. Dependent and neglected children and those children who are beyond parental control should be segregated from the institution for delinquency and conduct cases. In general these cases are of three types: (a) Family breakdown, (b) juvenile delinquency and (c) mental defective children. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(2) THE FAMILY. With the exception of a family which is unable to care for its child, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(3) THE STATE AND THE LAW. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(4) THE POINT SYSTEM. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(5) THE PRINCIPLE OF DEPRIVATION. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(6) ABANDON HAIR CROPPING. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(7) SOLITARY DISCIPLINE. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(8) THE POINT SYSTEM. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(9) THE PRINCIPLE OF DEPRIVATION. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

the administering of corporal punishment seems desirable.

"(10) THE INSTITUTION. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(11) THE POINT SYSTEM. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(12) THE PRINCIPLE OF DEPRIVATION. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(13) ABANDON HAIR CROPPING. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(14) SOLITARY DISCIPLINE. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(15) THE POINT SYSTEM. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(16) THE PRINCIPLE OF DEPRIVATION. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(17) ABANDON HAIR CROPPING. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(18) SOLITARY DISCIPLINE. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

"(19) THE POINT SYSTEM. The institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. Since it is desirable to maintain the child in its own home, the institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution. This institution should be available for treatment of the dependent, neglected and abandoned children of the institution.

Clipped By:

amst0313a
Sat, Oct 26, 2019